

eLearning conference 2019

4/11/19: 1 day. 100 faculty attendees.

69% Rutgers University-Camden
10% Community college partners (RCBC & RCGC)
12% Stockton 9% Other (Rowan, UPenn, Drexel)

25 sessions featuring 35 presenters from 7 institutions

96 percent of attendees are "very likely" or "likely" to recommend conference to a colleague

94

percent of attendees felt the conference met or exceeded expectations

SESSION HIGHLIGHTS:

- "No more peek-a-boo: using rubrics to promote grading transparency and student development," presented by Edwina Haring of RUC
- "Kick-start your course development by reimagining assignments for the online environment," presented by Jessica Morris and Cathy Turner of UPenn
- "Taking a hands-on example of experimental design to the online classroom," presented by Robrecht van Der Wel of RUC
- Student panel: "Persuading students to put their phones away during class," led by Lee Ann Westman of RUC

CONFERENCE GOALS:

1. Promote best practices in online, hybrid, and classroom teaching and learning
2. Excite interest in pedagogies supported by educational research
3. Encourage faculty to share meaningful teaching ideas & experiences

What do attendees plan on bringing back to their classrooms?

Flipgrid

VoiceThread

OER

Adobe Spark

gaming

graphical syllabi

"I thought it was a great and inspiring day which helped me feel supported and more confident about teaching online"

"I really look forward to this conference. It's probably one of the best in terms of topics, organization, quality, and the branded gift items are nice. The food is always good, too!!"

"I thought the conference was well run and organized, and I look forward to attending next year."